Rew versus Long, in the Exchequer Chamber,

ERROR in the Exchequer Chamber of a Judgement in an Ejectione firmæ: The Error assigned, for that the Plaintiff was an Infant at the time of the Bill purchased, and sued by Attorney, where he could not make an Attorney, but ought to have sued by Guardian, And all the Justices and Barons held it to be Eroneous for this cause, and to be an Error in Fait, and might be well assigned for Error in this Court. Although it were alledged, that their Authority given them by the Statute was not to examine matters in Fait, but onely Errors in Law, which appeared of Record, and to affirm or reverse the Judgement. But notwithstanding they all (besides Anderlon) held, that it might be assigned: Wherefore the Defendant in the Writ of Error said, that he was of full Age at the time of the Bill brought, and thereupon they were at issue, and Nisi prius awarded for the Trial thereof, before Periam Chief Baron, and Fenner one of the Justices of the Kings Bench, And for this cause it was moved to be ill, but they held it to be well enough, and that he might be Justice of Nisi prius to try the Error in Fait of his own Judgement. It was also moved, that this Trial was ill, because this Writ of Nisi prius issued under the Exchequer Seale, in regard that Anderlon Chief Justice of the Common Bench, who had the Seal of that Court, refused to seal it. But they held it to be good enough, for that it is not examinable under what Seal this Writ issued, wherefore the issue being found for the Plaintiff in the Writ of Error, That the Plaintiff in the first action was within age at the time of the Bill exhibited, they reversed the Judgement, and remanded the Record: And it was afterwards moved in the Kings Bench, That they had proceeded in the Exchequer Chamber without warrant of the Statute to Try Error in Fait, for the Statute doth impower them onely to examine Errors in the Record, and of that opinion were all the Justices: Wherefore for this cause They would not regrant restitution upon this Judgement to the Defendant, who was put out by the first Judgement.

WITH MAPS OF TURKEY & THE ARABIAN GULF

Dapper, Olfert. UMBSTÄNDLICHE UND EIGENTLICHE BESCHREIBUNG VON ASIA... Mesopotamien / Babylonien / Assyrien / Anatolien oder Klein-Asien... Arabiens... [Circumstantial and Actual Descriptions of Asia, Mesopotamia, Babylon, Syria, Turkey, Arabia... ]

Nürnberg: Johann Hoffmann, 1681. 340 by 230mm (13½ by 9 inches).

Folio; [8], 556, [12] pp. Index. Double column text. Old calf with red & black spine labels, over boards. In German. On a preliminary blank leaf a short inscription in German from a student to his professor dated October 1876. Illustrated with an engraved frontispiece, 3 exquisite folding maps and 19 (of 21) engraved plates, many of which are two-page folding plates, and 8 large engraved in-text illustrations. Good. Extremities of boards rubbed, top & bottom of spine chipped. Engraved frontispiece repaired at inner margin. Some old text soiling at bottom inner margin. Some plates with minor repairs.

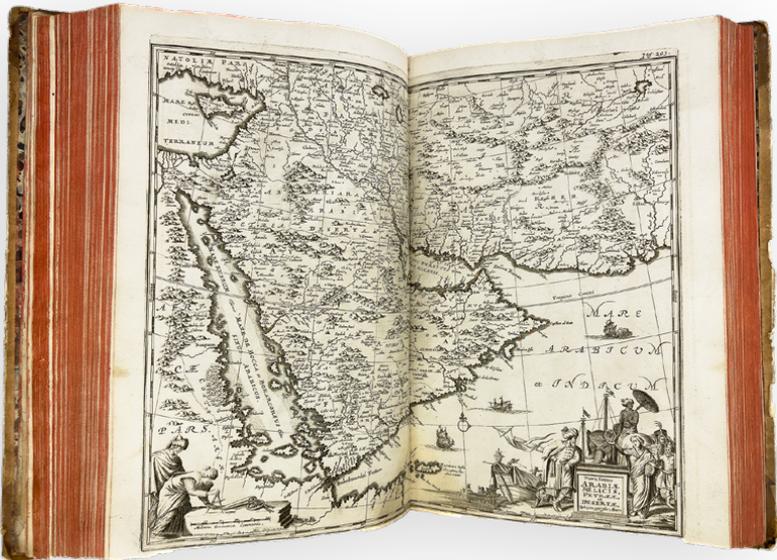

OLFERT DAPPER (1636–1688) was a Dutch physician and scholar who wrote a series of geographical and historical books on Africa and Asia. Dapper himself never left the Netherlands, but based his accounts primarily on reports of Jesuit missionaries. His works are best known for the fine and accurate engravings. In Paris, the Musée Dapper dedicated to the work of Dapper opened in 1986. This book is the first German edition of Dapper's description of the Middle East, including Mesopotamia or Algizira, Assyria, and Anatolia; the second part is entirely devoted to Arabia. Dapper's work is of especial importance for its original and new information on Islam, Arab science, astronomy, philosophy, and historiography, as well as for its illustrations. Includes accounts of Mecca with an extensive description of the Hajj (the pilgrimage), Jeddah, Medina, Sana'a, etcetera. The engravings show costumes, religious rites, specimens of local flora and city views. One double page plate depicts the tower of Babylon. This copy has all three folding maps in lovely condition (Bassora, Natolia [Asia Minor], and Arabiae), but was apparently never bound with two of the 21 plates. We compared our copy against the digitized copy at Regensburg (VD17 23:300237X), and it is the single page plates after page 63 and after page 132 that were omitted. The omitted plates are unremarkable single page images, paling in comparison to the two page tower of Babylon or the three lovely maps. The page numbers 266 & 267 repeat themselves, which also occurs in the Regensburg copy and appears to be a printer's error in all copies.

A REMARKABLE COLLECTION of early engravings and maps with an emphasis on the Arabian Gulf and Turkey.
